The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-21,30-37,45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsui '112 or Inui '582.

Matsui and Inui each suggest the instantly claimed product because each teaches the instantly claimed process of making oxide and hydroxide compositions of at least magnesium hydroxide-aluminum hydroxide and the corresponding oxide thereof. See cols. 3,4 and the example of Matsui and cols. 4,6-8 of Inui.

Matsui and Inui may differ in not stating the instantly claimed product characteristics however these would be expected in the products formed by the taught processes because the taught processes are the same as that instantly claimed and disclosed.

Claims 1-4,6-21,30-32,34-37,45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 00/38282.

WO '282 suggests the instantly claimed nanocrystalline metal oxide composition having the instantly claimed product characteristics and which are co-solidified (see pg. 10) and would appear to be dispersed in a matrix and intimately intermingled. See pp. 9,12,14.

WO '282 may differ in that it overlaps the instantly claimed product characteristics and the instantly claimed process is not stated.

The subject matter as a whole would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have selected the overlapping portion of the range disclosed by the reference because overlapping ranges have been held to be a prima facie case of obviousness, see In re Malagari, 182 USPQ 549.

Any difference imparted by the product by process limitations would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made because where the examiner has found a substantially similar product as in the applied prior art the burden of proof is shifted to the applicant to establish that their product is patentably distinct not the examiner to show the same process of making, see In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685, In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324, In re Spada, 15 USPQ2d 1655, In re Fitzgerald, 205 USPQ 594 and MPEP 2113.

Applicant's arguments filed January 30, 2006 have been fully considered and they are persuasive. The amendment to delete "the crystallites of the" from claims 1,12,30, and to delete "in which the crystallites" in claim 45 necessitated the new grounds of rejection as this limitation was part of what was argued in the response filed June 7, 2005 as overcoming the prior art rejections.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
